Dear CRD Chair and Board,

RE: Update on BC Step Code

Following our letter of September 14, Re: Step Code Survey to VRBA Members, the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing released a report on the costs of the Step Code.

The report is not credible when compared to our own survey of 22 experienced builders, including Built Green, Passive Home and Net Zero contractors. For example, the ministry estimates a Tier 5 (Passive Home) will cost only an additional $17,450 over a base code home.

Our builders estimate the additional cost to be between $55,410 and $110,820 and in this environment of weekly rising prices for material and labour, the number is likely to be on the higher side. Given this disparity between the report and real world construction costs, the report should be disregarded for any Tier.

In addition, when council asks for the designations of Built Green, Leed, or Passive Home, the contractors must be registered with the program and have certified education to deliver that specific product. Education is the foundation of professionalism and helps protect your residents and municipality.

There is no certified education for the Step Code. While the ministry claims it will provide seminars for the Step Code, attendance by builders is optional.

The Step Code is poor policy increasing costs and risk while undermining certified education programs and National Building Code diligence.

In addition, there is negligible benefit reducing GHG's at significant cost in already energy efficient new homes. Our older housing stock is where real energy efficiency gains can be achieved.

For these reasons and others, including the real potential for unintended consequences, VRBA does not support the Step Code at any level. We recommend support for Built Green, a very successful certification program that includes energy efficiency, water conservation, recycling and affordability – critical for young families in BC.

Dear Mayor and Council:

On behalf of Canadian Home Builders' Association of Vancouver Island, I am writing to offer our support for your upcoming consultations on the new B.C. Energy Step Code.

CHBA Vancouver Island represents home builders, developers, renovators, suppliers and other industry professionals. We work to raise the bar of professionalism in the industry, and advocate for affordability, quality, and choice for consumers.

CHBA BC was a key participant in creation of the B.C. Energy Step Code and remains a member of the technical committee. We now wish to continue that partnership at the local level and work collaboratively with local governments on implementation. We are prepared to be an active partner, with an industry perspective, and provide valuable input on behalf of members to inform capacity, costs, and training gaps that may exist during implementation on Step Code.

We believe it is critical for representatives of the industry to be part of the consultation. Please let us know who would be the best contact for this. We look forward to discussing this opportunity in greater detail.

Sincerely,

Mark Bernhardt B.Sc.
